

CHEF-Artist – Neep and Okra Café Application Pack

Deveron Projects

Deveron Projects is based in the rural market town of Huntly, Scotland. We connect artists, communities and places through creative research and engagement.

The town is the venue describes the framework in which we work and contribute to the social wellbeing of our town. We inhabit, explore, map and activate the place through artist driven projects. Huntly's small town context, its 18th Century streets and the surrounding Aberdeenshire countryside offer an abundance of possibilities to work with. We have engaged with local people and their clubs, choirs, shops, schools, churches, bars and discos here since 1995.

ARTocracy is the creative work method we use within the town is the venue framework. It suggests that all people have creative power, which reaches far beyond the walls of a gallery or art centre.

Huntly

Huntly is our place, where we have been working for over twenty years. The 18th century market town provides the social and environmental context, based on the Aberdeen – Inverness railway line with over an hour's drive from any larger cultural and art provision. It has a population of 4500 and serves a hinterland of another 4500. Since 2016, 104 refugees from Syrian have been resettled in Aberdeenshire: Deveron Projects has worked with the Syrian new Scots through various food related events so far.

Our cultural audit has identified a myriad of over 150 clubs and organisations and a historically interesting, but now neglected town centre. Economically the town suffers from a decline in retail – reflected in the look of the place; and a decline in employment. The social indicators of Huntly's community show multiple deprivations.

The Neep and Okra Café

At Deveron Projects, we take a big interest in food and its relation to both the alleviation of poverty and environmental issues. We also strive to integrate the most vulnerable of our community through socially-engaged projects. We are currently looking at town regeneration and ways to deal with Huntly, such as empty shops, rural isolation and youth unemployment, through promoting sustainability and local food economy. (For more information on recent projects, see: Town is the Garden and Room to Reinvent)

The Neep and Okra Café is a community cooking initiative by Deveron Projects in collaboration with the Amal Project set up by the Syrian new Scots (SNS) in Aberdeenshire. It follows a successful pilot project – our Number 11 Café: <https://www.deveron-projects.com/no-11-cafe/>

We believe that through this initiative, we can improve the diet and health of vulnerable members of our local community whilst providing the Syrian community with opportunities to improve their English skills, work prospects and integration. The Neep and Okra Café will foster a sense of social cohesion between these two vulnerable communities. Our idea is to hire a small venue with a kitchen to bring people together in a space that is both functional for cookery purposes and also encourages hospitality, friendship, nutritional education and communication.

Task Description

The Chef-Artist will work on a programme of food-based events, bringing the Neep and Okra Café project to life.

We are looking for a creative and driven individual with a keen interest in community development through cooking, baking and social engagement. An understanding of our vision and location to carry out community work in a sensitive and engaging manner is essential to create a lasting impact with the town and partners.

The Chef-Artist will work with the Project Manager liaising with local community groups, venues, partners and stakeholders. We also want to use this opportunity to identify other ethnic community and food poverty partners in the AB54 area, who are interested in hospitality and cooking skills.

Key tasks will be:

- Work with the Project Manager and Cook Assistants from the SNS community to develop a social enterprise café in Huntly town centre
- Develop and undertake daily cooking/baking needs for the café
- Identify ways to produce tasty and healthy food that appeals to a wide range of community members
- Assist in creating a programme of civic food based events, encouraging dialogues within the local community
- Liaise with the town is the garden programme in locating locally grown food ingredients
- Recruit, supervise and guide SNS cooks and other trainees, volunteers and work placements
- Keeping cash book and other relevant administrative tasks
- Assisting with evaluation and reporting
