Travelling to Huntly

TRAIN

Huntly has a train station which is approximately an hour by rail from Aberdeen. Aberdeen is the closest hub station, and receives overnight Sleeper services from London Euston. The Caledonian Sleeper leaves London Euston at 21.15 (can vary) and arrives in Aberdeen at 07.41 the following morning. Note that the Sleeper service does not run on Saturday nights.

It is likely that your route will be via the Aberdeen station. Trains to Huntly from Aberdeen during the week are about one every hour or two hours, and you should plan your route with the possibility of delays between your connections. Sunday services are limited to just five journeys a day.

BUS

During the week there is a regular bus service from Aberdeen Guild Street Bus Station. The Bluebird Stagecoach number 10 towards Inverness runs hourly throughout the day, and takes approximately 1 hour and 26 minutes.

DRIVING

Huntly is roughly a 3 hour and 30 minute drive from either Glasgow or Edinburgh via the A90.
